CONTINUES LISTLESS

Market Showed No Activity Yesterday and Is Even More Stagnant Than Ever.

STEEL DECLINED

Bets on Nomination and Presidential Candidates Appear and Will Have Influence.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 25.—To-day's stock market was even more listless and sympathetic than that of yesterday. The tree declining tendency of yesterday was arrested, but this discouraged, rather than fostered activity. The movement had no news to account for it, and there was no symptom of any large demand had no news to account for it, and there was no symptom of any large demand in any quarter. United States Steel preferred was the most active stock and its recovery was in face of the practical confirmation of the report prevalent yesterday in the error of the report prevalent yesterday in the stock declined. The second mortgage bonds were sold down in the early market on the extent of a point. The point was made that the light buying of steel for the account of hie railroads is due to their inability to place bond issues as desired. But this view conflicts within the argument that the large temporary borrowing by the railroads are to continue improvements to which they were already committed before the plockade in the bond market. An initial engagement of gold for Thursday's steamer was made to-day, and bills sold in the exchange market was supposed to be against other shipments in contemplation. The money market was entirely unaffected, the demand for time loans being little more than nominal. The appearance of bets on nominations and Presidentia candidates on the curb its a reminder of a repressive influence on the market. He covery of a large fraction in United States Seel proceeding was the only movement of any significance in the day's market. The closing was the only movement of any significance in the day's market. The closing was heavy and stagnant. GREENSBORO, N. C., April 26.—The whilekey fraud cases were taken up in the Yederal Court this morning. Only three of the five defendants are present, two having not been apprehended.

Defendants' counsel made no further objection to going into trial, and the case was soon under way.

The district attorney read the bill of indictments, outlined what the government expected to prove, and the court adjourned until 3 o'clock. The afternoon was consumed with introduction on the part of the government with records and documentary evidence.

A prominent government official here from Washington said last night that the more the case was investigated, the bigger and the more ingenious the frauds appeared; that it now looks as if they had been going on for five years, and the government had lost a million dollars in revenue.

Work in Cottonseed Oil Mill.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

GOLDSBORO. N. C., April 25,—A fire, which originated in the finishing room of the Wiyne Agricultural Works, did considerable damage this afternoon. The wind was blowing a gale from the south, and in a short while the hull house of the Goldsboro Oil Mill was on fire. Both institutions are situated close to each other, and the wind was from the right direction to carry the flames to the oil mills.

The residence portion of the city was in danger at one time. The Agricultural Works suffered a loss of $1,090, covered by insurance. The loss of the oil mill will amount to between $10,000 and $15,000, which is covered by insurance.

The automatic sprinklers of the oil mill, together with their fireproof brick building, prevented the fire from doing further damage.
